FOREWORD

With the increased activity in Texas archaeology in recent years--by both professional and avocational archaeologists--there has been a tremendous growth in the literature for prehistoric and historic sites. It is hard for most of us to keep apace of all of these publications, and there is a great need for articles and books that synthesize these new data. There is also a demand for comprehensive bibliographies that enable us to track down references on a particular topic or involving a specific geographical area. On the academic side of archaeology, such bibliographies are of great value when students begin to hunt for references for semester projects. In contract archaeology, there is the need to have access to published reports when preparing site survey forms and reports on historic sites.

The publication in 1983 of Dan Fox's Traces of Texas History (Corona Press, San Antonio) provided the needed synthesis of historic archaeology in Texas. Now, through the work of William Moore and Roger Moore, the Center for Archaeological Research is pleased to publish this present bibliographic treatment of historic sites archaeology. It should be a useful adjunct to Fox's book, and we hope that it can be updated in the coming years in order to maintain its utility as a bibliographic tool.

ABSTRACT

Documented in this bibliography are the varied sources in which information concerning historical archaeology in Texas has appeared. In all, 509 references are cross-referenced in this monograph with author, subject, and county. Much of the state is represented with subjects relating to 163 of the 254 Texas counties.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

A number of people have given their assistance in this project. Without their generous help this bibliography would have been impossible to complete. It is our desire to acknowledge everyone who aided in this project. Any omissions are not intentional.

All major state agencies dealing with archaeology were contacted during this study and the personnel we interacted with were, without exception, very helpful. The following agencies deserve our deep appreciation: Office of the State Archeologist, Texas Historical Commission - Robert J. Mallouf, Wayne R. Roberson, Helen Simons, and Paul J. White; Texas Archeological Research Laboratory - Carolyn Spock and Dee Ann Story; Texas Archeological Survey - Solveig Turpin, Jack Jackson, Hank Moncure, and Bruce Nightengale; Texas Department of Water Resources - Daniel E. Fox; State Department of Highways and Public Transportation - Frank A. Weir and John W. Clark, Jr., and Texas Antiquities Committee - J. Barto Arnold.

Several contract archaeology firms were most helpful. Acknowledged are Espey, Huston and Associates, Inc. - Clell L. Bond, Wayne P. Glander, Leonard R. Voellinger, and Melissa W. Voellinger; Heartfield, Price and Greene, Inc. - Lorraine Heartfield, G. R. Dennis Price, and Glen Greene; Lone Star Archeological Services, Inc. - Alton Briggs; and Prewitt and Associates, Inc. - Elton R. Prewitt.

This project could not have been completed without the support of the Center for Archaeological Research, The University of Texas at San Antonio - Thomas R. Hester, Jack D. Eaton, Anne A. Fox, and Sharon Quirk - and the Archeological Research Laboratory, Texas A&M University - David L. Carlson, Shawn Bonath Carlson, and Erwin Roemer.

Three individuals deserve recognition for the amount of personal time they gave to this project. Michael R. Bradle spent long hours with the boring tasks of checking for typographical errors and cross-checking new manuscripts against old drafts. Mrs. Inus Marie Harris devoted much time to tracking down reports written by her late husband, R. K. Harris and obtaining information in The Record, a journal of which we were unable to get many copies. Celinda Stevens patiently helped with the printing of the manuscript and lent her knowledge of word processing.

Other individuals we would like to acknowledge are: Georgia Blake of the El Paso Archaeological Society; Alan R. Duke of the Houston Archeological Society; Billy R. Harrison, Curator of Anthropology, The Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum; Herbert C. Morrow, Consultant, Albert J. Redder of the Central Texas Archeological Society; and Aaron D. Riggs of the Midland Archeological Society.

Special acknowledgments are given to Eleanor Ann Moore and Guusje Zimmerman Moore for their patience and understanding throughout this project.

INTRODUCTION

The idea for compiling a bibliography of works dealing with historical archaeology in Texas originated while William Moore was enrolled in Donny Hamilton's course in Historical Archaeology at Texas A&M University in 1978. The paper he turned in for a grade in Dr. Hamilton's course contained only major works in the bibliography. Although it was annotated in some detail, it was not very complete. At that time Mr. Moore was not aware of the vast amount of reports dealing with historical archaeology in the state.

Mr. Moore gave a copy of his original manuscript to the Texas Archeological Research Laboratory in Austin, Texas, for their files and received encouragement from Dr. Dee Ann Story to continue with the project, making it more comprehensive. After working on the manuscript for some time, he realized the need for assistance and solicited Roger Moore to aid in the project. The finished manuscript is the product of years of cooperation between the two as well as numerous others in the discipline. Most of the work was carried out on weekends and after normal working hours except for a few visits to various agencies to look at reports and talk to individuals.

We hope that this bibliography will be a useful tool for researchers interested in historic archaeology in Texas. We were not able to check every report and journal as many were not available or located in places too distant to travel. We would, therefore, greatly appreciate hearing from anyone who can provide information on additional references that we omitted as well as corrections for any mistakes in this bibliography. This information will be incorporated into a revised edition of this manuscript. It is the purpose of this bibliography to provide the researcher with a comprehensive listing of references pertaining to historical archaeology in Texas.

One of the major problems of this project was deciding which references to omit. There is no problem with those reports which deal exclusively with excavations at Spanish missions or nineteenth century forts. However, there are numerous contract reports which document only a few trash scatters or maybe an isolated cistern. Should these be considered significant? We believe so. It is our intention to include as many references to historic sites as possible. As mentioned above, we were not able to review every issue of certain journals or complete series of reports published by some agencies. We do not want the reader to think when encountering each reference that every volume by the various titles in the bibliography was checked. Major journals and report series that we were not able to check thoroughly include The Artifact, The Record, journals and newsletters of the Society for Historical Archaeology, and reports published by the Archaeological Research Program, Southern Methodist University.
